

Kevin Ahronson – Speaker Introduction

There has been the odd occasion where people have struggled to correctly pronounce my surname when introducing me.

Ahronson is pronounced: Air Ron Sun

Hopefully that will be helpful

Our next speaker has been taking photos for decades.

He bought his first 35mm camera in 1969 and went straight into the school darkroom, learning all he could about processing and developing.

With 50 years behind the camera and ten years teaching, he founded Hampshire School of Photography in 2016 and now runs workshops and privately mentors photographers (from beginners through to those who want to go professional) throughout Hampshire, Surrey and Berkshire.

Having taught hundreds of photographers over the last few years, he recently set up the Photography Teacher blog, to further share his experience with a wider audience.

Tonight he is sharing with us

Ladies and gentlemen – Kevin Ahronson
